

POLICY 10400

ALLERGIC REACTION / ANAPHYLAXIS

POLICY:

Anaphylaxis, sometimes called “allergic shock” or “generalized allergic reaction”, is a severe allergic reaction that can lead to rapid death, if untreated. Common causes are food, latex, insect stings, medication and exercise.

Ensuring the safety of the anaphylactic children in a school setting depends on the cooperation of the entire school community.

The district practice summarizes the responsibilities of all members of the school community in minimizing the risk of exposure and ensuring immediate response to an emergency.
